All PCMCIA Cards were sealed with a numbered seal in a black carrying box and locked in the County Clerk's Office safe for the time they were programmed, tested and taken to the recount room every day—seal numbers are recorded on the municipality sheets at the starting of a new card. Prior to starting each grouping of the recount the PCMCIA was sealed in the M-100 with a numbered blue seal and recorded, the black carrying box was also resealed with a white numbered seal each time. Seal numbers were read aloud for all to hear and record. The gray ballot box was also locked after each new PCMCIA card was inserted. Keys from the M-100 and ballot box were locked in safe each night. Each PCMCIA with the grouping above were public tested and read aloud for each RECOUNT CARD. Public Testing was correct and accurate for each card. M-100 was reset to zero prior to the recounting for each card.

Procedure was as follows:

1. Cut seal off Black Carrying Box
2. Remove PCMCIA Card
3. Resealed Black Carrying Box with white numbered seal
4. Inserted PCMCIA Card in M-100
5. Turned M-100 on to make sure PCMCIA card was OK (battery not dead)
6. Sealed front flap where PCMCIA card was inserted with a numbered blue wire seal.
7. Locked front gray flap covering with key – removed key
8. Ran public test and proofed
9. Cleared totals from public test to zero
10. Counted first municipality/reporting unit
11. Printed tape and reconciled
12. Reopened polls for next municipality/reporting unit
13. Ran final tape when all municipalities/reporting units were complete on PCMCIA card

These 13 steps were completed for each RECOUNT CARD.

Each reporting unit was reviewed in accordance to the procedures set down by the GAB Recount Manual and the Wisconsin Supreme Court Plan provided by the Government Accountability Board. The Board of Canvass reviewed election materials and reviewed the absentee envelopes: two teams of 2 reconciled each poll book; three tabulators manually counted the number of ballots and looked for any ballots that may be questionable and held out to be hand tallied. Both the Reps and Assistants watched both processes.

Items of Note: One ballot was wrinkled and unable to be put through the M-100. Canvass Board did a hand tally and the vote was Kloppenburg. The ballot became exhibit 16-A

The ballots were ran through the M-100 but did not match the totals from April 5, 2011. The totals on the precinct report from April 6, 2011 are as follows: Prosser- 415 Kloppenburg- 307 Write-ins-0. The precinct report became exhibit 16-B. The tape from the M-100 on April 28, 2011 during the recount became exhibit 16-C. The totals from the M-100 at the recount are: Prosser-412 Kloppenburg-309 + 1 and undervote 6. The Canvass Board then decided to recount the ballots by hand to see if they could determine any errors. The hand count results are as follows: Prosser-412 Kloppenburg- 309+1 and undervotes-6. The Canvass Board decision was to accept the hand tally and the m-100 totals ran on April 28, 2011 at the recount. After further discussion, Nan decided to contact Betty Hoenisch, the current Town of Maine Clerk to come in and explain why the totals are different. At 2:30, Betty Hoenisch, the current Town of Maine Clerk, Tammi Walters, the former Town of Maine Clerk, Joyce Christian, the Town of Maine Chief Inspector and Caryl Marone, the Town of Maine Chief Inspector came in to clarify to the Canvass Board why the totals are not coming out. Joyce Christian stated that during the April 5, 2011 election, a poll worker went into the Town of Maine townhall kitchen to retrieve more ballots to be used. On accident, the poll worker brought back ballots from the February 15, 2011 primary election. Five ballots were given out. Three ballots were used, but before they were put into the M-100, the error was discovered and their ballots were remade. The February 2011 used primary ballots were then torn up and thrown away. The February 15, 2011 ballot became exhibit 16-D. No note was made as to this on the incident log. Tammi Walters is unsure what happened to the other two ballots. Betty Hoenisch contact Joyce Zernicke who remade the ballots and she is unsure if she looked at the names of the candidates or if she just took the oval placement and transferred the vote that way. The Canvass Board discussed letting the hand count results stand as they cannot be sure how the three electors voted on the ballots that were remade. The republicans made an objection. The Canvass Board contact the GAB and spoke with Mike Haas. The Canvass Board explained what had happened and that they needed clarification . Mike asked if it would be okay if Ross Hein called us back. About five minutes later, Mike and Ross called us back. On speaker phone, Ross said we needed a statement from the election inspector who remade the ballot. Ross said that it is fine for the Canvass Board to use the machine count from today, April 28, 2011. The Republicans again made an objection. Betty Hoenisch offered to go to the Town of Maine townhall and try to see if the ballots were still in the recycling. The Democrats objected as to the chain of custody of the ballots at this point. The Canvass Board again agreed to let the M-100 results from today stand. Betty Hoenisch did return to the Town of Maine townhall to look for the torn up ballots, but called back at 4:30 p.m. to say that she did not find them. Betty Hoenisch and Joyce Christian signed a statement. This statement is exhibit 16-E. Melaine Franklin submitted a statement on behalf of the Kloppenburg team. This statement became exhibit 16-F. Chuck Fallos submitted a objection on behalf of the Prosser team. This statement became exhibit 16-G.

Could not locate one ballot bag. The poll workers had put the ballots in a ballot bag and mislabeled it. Ballots were found and counted.

The poll books counters totaled the ward one electors. They came up with more ballots than voters. Toni Rayalla, City of Wausau Clerk, explained that the City of Wausau have multiple wards at one polling place and how the electors may be given the wrong ballot accidentally. It was determined by the Canvass Board to run the ballots from ward one and look for any discrepancies in the other wards at the same polling location. Ward two also had two less voters than ballots. The Canvass Board explained to the GAB and agreed to note in minutes the over/under was in polling place due to issuance of wrong ballots to electors. The GAB stated to have statement from Chief Inspectors and the Municipal Clerk. Exhibit 56-A.
